Napoleon's Account of his Downfall

(From the Chicago Tribune, Nov.)

We publish elsewhere a history of the Franco Prussian campaign from the declaration of war to the surrender of Sedan which bears clear internal evidence throughout of having been written by Napoleon III, though it is deemed more preservative of the imperial dignity to attribute it to "an officer attached to the staff of the Major General." As a defence of the Emperor, it is to be regretted that it traces events only from and after the declaration of war, whereas the point in which the Emperor's course is most inexplicable is why he declared war at all. Was he ignorant of the vast military superiority of Prussia over France? This argument claims that he was fully aware of it, and laid all his plans of the campaign on the assumption that Prussia would muster 1,100,000 men while France would muster only 600,000; that Prussia would array a force of [illegible]0,000 men effective for battle while France must meet them with 300,000. This may be true or may not. France was usually stated in the military handbooks and general works of reference on this point, to have an available force of 1,350,000 men, while Prussia was rated at 800,000. It has been proven that the French army organization was honeycombed with fraud; that thousands of men were being paid for out of the treasury who did not exist, the officers of the French army pocketing the difference. How is it that Napoleon can now claim to have fore estimated the numbers of the French armies at these reduced figures, and yet have allowed so much larger a number to be charged for and paid?

Again, if he knew that the Germans would have nearly two men to his one, how could he, as a sane man, hope to defeat them, as he claims to have done, merely by celerity of movement and brilliant strategic powers? This is to conceal an ignorance that was entirely probable by pleading guilty to a vanity that would have been egregious. He had seen the celerity of the Prussian movements in the campaign against Austria! Is it reasonable to suppose that he hoped to outstrip the heroes and veterans of that campaign by the celerity of movement of an army that Trochu had warned him "was an unorganized rabble"?

We know, indeed, that Generals Trochu and Ducrot had fully advised him of the Prussian superiority in numbers as well as preparation. But these unwelcome counsellors had been disgraced for their frankness. He preferred Le Bœuff, who pooh-poohed these pretences, and flattered the Emperor that the French army was irresistible. Had Napoleon known, as he now claims, the numerical inferiority of the French army, as well as its want of organization, his culpability for declaring the war would be even greater than if he were deceived in these respects. For to lead France into a war, knowing that the odds were two to one against him, with no other pretext than that a German Prince had been made a candidate for the Spanish throne, and to insist upon war after that Prince, at the earnest solicitation of the King of Prussia, had withdrawn from the candidacy—this was the burden of Napoleon's fatal blunder, and can only be deemed consistent with his sanity, even saying nothing of his judgment, on the theory that he believed in the military superiority of France. We cannot help regarding the statement, therefore, as a glaring falsehood from the outset, in its pretence that Napoleon knew of the actual numerical condition of the French army, and was not disappointed and desperately dismayed at its inadequacies in this first essential.

The ex-Emperor alleges that he designed with 250,000 men to invade Germany, knowing that it would be defended by twice that number of effective fighting men, and that the active Prussian armies would amount to four times that number.

In detailing the various steps by which successive disasters were precipitated on the French forces, the Emperor exhibits a more refreshing candor. He informs us with delightful naïveté that his Generals could have made better work in fighting the Prussians if the Prussians would have let them know where they were; but notwithstanding the most persevering inquiries, it was never really known where the mass of their troops was, nor in consequence where our chief efforts should be directed. On the 14th of August, as also on the 16th, no one imagined that the whole Prussian army had to be dealt with; no one doubted at Gravellotte that Verdun could easily be reached on the morrow. At Paris they were no better informed than we.

He states that he left the army at Metz, on the earnest solicitation of his Generals, that he should avoid being penned up where his guiding hand would be lost to the helm of State. He tells us that "these suggestions had an indisputable weight, which did not escape the Emperor." But in withdrawing to Verdun and Chalons he found that the news of his disaster had changed his status, and that he was very much less like a real Emperor than he had been. For Napoleon here falls into the popular view of his own attitude as one personating an assumed part, but having no inherent imperial instincts and capacities which made it his right to reign. He says:

> "From this period Ministers appeared afraid to pronounce the name of the Emperor, and he who had quitted the army and had only relinquished the command in order to resume the reins of Government, soon discovered that it would be impossible for him to play out the part which he [illegible]."

The style of the charlatan is conspicuous in the very framing of the above sentence. He found himself unable any longer to wield the reins of the Government which he had usurped by perjury and held only by shedding the blood of twenty thousand French men. Even this mortifying collapse, however, he could only state in such language as would convey a compliment to his sagacity in having so promptly made the discovery.

Again, when the poor old charlatan relates that on the battle field of Sedan a single Colonel of a regiment lying wounded upon his litter shouted [illegible] testimony of the attachment which [illegible] bore to its sovereign [illegible] the army that shouted the vanity with which the imperial [illegible] quotes the instance and the [illegible] of the attachment which he infers from it would have been justified.

Singularly enough the only political lesson which the ex-Emperor draws from his reverses is that he has not been sufficiently despotic. He says: "The successes of Prussia are due to the superiority of numbers, to the rigorous discipline of her army, and to the empire [illegible] by Ardigan [illegible] constitution of the army presented a remarkable solidity, but when the excesses of the [illegible] press were permitted to [illegible] the authority [illegible] where a spirit of criticism and insubordination [illegible] the army felt the effects of it."

After having muzzled the tongue and the press of the French people for twenty years, the ex-Emperor coolly attributes the misfortunes which were the consequences of his own ignorance and vanity to the fact that he had left too much freedom of speech [illegible] press. No wonder Carlisle [illegible] part this one as anything [illegible].

Direct trade between the Mississippi Valley and Europe will not be much longer postponed. The first ship sent out by the Liverpool and Mississippi steamship line has made a brilliant trip, and the other is on her way from Liverpool. The vessels are of 2,000 tons burthen. Four other steamers for this line are now on the stocks.

EASTERN DATES TO NOVEMBER 29

Rumor of an Attempt to Shoot the King of Prussia

LONDON, Nov 28.—The evening papers contain a rumor that an attempt had been made by a Bavarian soldier to shoot the King of Prussia.

The publication of news from the seat of war by German newspapers is prohibited.

General Details of News

TOURS, Nov 28.—By a decree issued to-day Keratry's command is united with the 21st army corps at Yeres.

LONDON, Nov 29.—There is no truth in the report that an attempt has been made on the life of King William, but proofs have been discovered of a dangerous conspiracy. The affair is kept quiet. No particulars have transpired.

It is reported that the King and staff have arrived at Meaux from Versailles.

The siege train used at Thionville is on the way to Montmedy.

A village near Vernguy Lafere has been burned.

Reports of German successes in battles around Amiens are confirmed by a dispatch from King William. No particulars.

In the fight at Moury the Prussians had 30,000 men engaged.

LONDON, Nov 28.—News is just received that Amiens is occupied by the Germans under Gen. Grillen. The following was previously issued by the Prefect of Somme: "Citizens: The day of darkness has arrived. Amiens must fall into the enemy's hands. The Army of the North is retreating and the National Guard disarming. I leave you, but will soon return. Be calm. Be confident. France will be saved."

A great battle is imminent if not already in progress between Chateau Dun and Montarges. A detachment of 8,000 Prussians is reported at the Chateau 20 kilometres from Tours. Frederick Charles' army is strongly reinforced with field artillery. The prefect at Loire and at Cher reported on the 26th that the Prussians were at Mondoubleau, Laother, Palle and Vicometisse. On the day before they were at Romilly and Douzy, with an object apparently of turning Vendome and supporting an advance on Tours. On the 25th they entered St. Callis and appeared at Maumers, whence they proceeded to St. Cosume.

The commander of the National Guards at St. Colars has been dismissed for preventing the defense of the place, and the municipal council has been dissolved. The commander at Evreux has been cashiered for surrendering the town to the enemy.

The Russian Question

LONDON, Nov 28.—A Cabinet meeting was held here to-day in which it was agreed that Gortschakoff's last dispatch should not be considered as removing the question of Russia's demand from the sphere of diplomacy. The Vienna Cabinet is favorable to a conference of powers in principle, but presses a settlement of preliminary questions.

The British Government has bought all the gunpowder common in the market. Lead advanced to 23£ per ton. The Financier says immense supplies of munitions of war have arrived at Prussian ports in the Black Sea. The Queen continues opposed to war with Russia. Granville demands the presence of France at the conference on the Eastern question. If this is insisted on, no conference can be held until peace is declared. It is believed at the Prussian Legation that a conference is certain. Neutral powers will apply such pressure to France as will render it impossible for her to refuse to acquiesce. The Sublime Porte is dissatisfied with the delay of allies in endorsing its proposals to assume the offensive against Russia.

The Daily Telegraph this morning says that England and Austria have firmly but courteously denied Russia the right to withdraw from the treaty of 1856. The result is evident in the lowering of the tone of the Russian press, and it is possible that Russia may seek an honorable retreat.

Dispatches from Brussels.

BRUSSELS, Nov 29.—Belgium asks for the neutralization of Dunkirk. It is said that Eugenie has been here since Monday.

Fighting Around Paris.

NEW YORK, Nov 29.—A Tribune correspondent at Versailles reports demonstrations against Congival last night from Mont Valerian and another against Mont Relouto this morning from the same place. Also a serious attack was made upon the Prussians at Crossy at nine this morning, but the assaulting columns were repulsed and many killed. Two hundred and fifty prisoners were taken. The German loss was small. A Bavarian corps was also engaged. A heavy fire was also kept up by the French from Villejuif.

The World's cable dispatch from Tours says the right wing of the French army made six simultaneous attacks on the German left yesterday. They were successful in five of them.

LONDON, Nov 29.—Jaures commands the army lately under Keratry.

VERSAILLES, Nov 29.—The French yesterday attacked the German forces at Beaune and were repulsed. Prince Frederick Charles directed the operations. One thousand prisoners were taken.

An official dispatch confirms the report of the defeat of the Garibaldians at Pisques.

Later from Paris

LILLE, Nov 29.—A report from Amiens says the Prussians have re-opened the Paris and Strasburg railroad to Chelles. Facilities for transportation of reinforcements and supplies to the army besieging Paris are increased.

The latest Paris journals bear witness to the pacific disposition of the people, who they say denounce the obstinacy of the Tours Government.

More Fighting

NEW YORK, Nov 29.—A Tours cable dispatch says that yesterday the right wing of the army of Loire having repulsed during the previous day several attempts of the enemy to turn its flank advanced to Giens and Montargis and thence commenced a movement toward Pithiviers in combination with the advance of the right centre of the army at Artbonay to the same point. While these movements were being made detachments of the enemy were in every case driven towards Beaune. Here at 2 P. M. the enemy massed 40,000 men. The French attacked the Prussian position in front and the south, capturing two guns. At nightfall the Germans seemed to be retreating further north.

Bismarck told Lord Russell that Paris would not be permitted to surrender except on condition of complete cessation of hostilities.

No decisive battles yet near Orleans. In the skirmishes the French have captured nine guns and the Prussian losses are heavy.

The Duke of Mecklenburg has failed in an attempt to occupy Le Mans.

Palladines is still intrenched between Artenay and Orleans. The Germans have failed to surround him. The Government at Tours has every confidence in his plans and believes that he will be able to pierce the Prussian lines and push forward to Paris.

TOURS, Nov 29.—A Tribune correspondent at Tours telegraphs that Keratry has given in his resignation in the face of the enemy. He threatens Gambetta with a council of war and accuses Gen. Kuverdo of treason.

The Russian Question

LONDON, Nov 29.—At the Cabinet Council yesterday a dispatch was read from Lord Russell containing Bismarck's proposal for a conference at London to settle the question of Russia's claim. Also a note from Bernstoff to Granville stating Prussia advised Russia to withdraw Gortschakoff's note on condition that a conference be held. Gortschakoff's second note was again considered, and the Cabinet agreed to Granville's reply expressing the willingness of England to agree to a conference provided Russia withdraws her first note. Messengers were immediately sent to St. Petersburg and Versailles to convey this reply.

Private advices from St. Petersburg represent the anti-England feeling so strong that even old English residents find it necessary to absent themselves from public places.

CALIFORNIA.

From San Francisco

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov 29.—It is not raining, but cloudy.

The only vessel which has entered port for twenty four hours is the steamer Kalorama, from Hueneme.

John Marks, driver for Bliss & McCann, wholesale butchers, was fatally injured by his team going off a high embankment on the Potrero road near long bridge.

Billy Dwyer, the pugilist, was arrested to-day on a charge of assault with deadly weapon on ex police officer Dunn.

The coroner made a postmortem examination to-day on the body of Robert Evans. The funeral takes place to-morrow at 3 P. M.

A fire broke out in a Chinese wash house in the rear of 615 Pacific street above Kearney. The fire spread rapidly, but was quickly extinguished by the fire department. Both saloons and Liberty Hall dance cellar were badly damaged. Loss less than $2,000.

The jury in the O'Conner Myers' murder case is still out, unable to agree. After three days' discussion they stand the same as yesterday—11 for conviction and one for acquittal. The antisectable juror is known outside the jury room, and his antecedents freely canvassed.

Twenty dollar gold pieces of the New Mexico decimal coinage are beginning to arrive here. They are worth $15 50 of our coin, being 21½ per cent. under the standard. New silver dollars are coming quite freely, but Chinese merchants will not take them, preferring the old coin.

The municipal reports from the last fiscal year, just printed, makes a volume of 522 pages octavo.

Joseph C. Collins had his daughter Jennie Collins brought from the Sisters' College, San Jose, to-day on a writ of habeas corpus, alleging that she was illegally detained. It was shown that the daughter was placed there by her mother's directions, and as she preferred to be under her mother's care the writ was dismissed.

INTERIOR CALIFORNIA DISPATCHES

STOCKTON, Nov 29.—Sheriff Nelson, of Mariposa county, arrested a man on the 27th inst., upon suspicion of being connected with the Hamilton Brothers in the murder of several persons in Colusa county last September.

The last rail of the Stockton and Copperopolis Railroad this afternoon was laid. The company has some twenty men at work setting ties.

SAN DIEGO, Nov 29.—Advices from Tucson to the 24th, say that Gov. Safford has returned and will remain in Tucson until after the session of the Legislature next January. Many leading families of Sonora have lately arrived in Tucson, and it is stated that they come on a political mission of no less character than that of inaugurating a movement for the annexation of all Sonora.

NEVADA.

HAMILTON, Nov 29.—Advices from Pioche City received to-day, state that the boundary surveying party have not yet reached that place. It is considered by observation that Pioche City is in Nevada by at least eleven miles.

Commercial Affairs at San Francisco

(From the San Francisco Bulletin, Nov. 23.)

The war between France and Prussia has nearly cut off all our supplies thence. At present we have only two vessels on the way here from Hamburg, both of which are overdue, while no vessel has been named to follow them. From France there are four vessels en route to this port, one from Bordeaux and three from Marseilles, all but one of which are due. These vessels are the only ones that can reasonably be expected from these countries during the next four or five months, even if the war should terminate to-day. A continuance of the struggle will of course further defer the shipment of goods thence to this port. At this time last year there were 13 vessels on the way here from France and 3 from Germany. During the year ending on the 1st instant, we received 21 cargoes from France and 8 from Germany. We shall hardly receive over half that number during the ensuing year. The Gustave is the only vessel which has arrived here from France in two months, while the Hermann and Emma is the only vessel from Germany in five months. War makes sad havoc with commerce.

The merchandise exports from San Francisco for the first half of the current month, amounted to $1,000,000 distributed as follows:

New York	$195 432	Japan	$41,010
Great Britain	586 847	Peru	29,879
Hawaiian Islands	39,166	Australia	13,859
British Columbia	14 390	Panama	22 699
Mexico	4 434	Central America	16 850
China	21 380	Society Islands	18,295
Total			$1,002,910

Over 50 per cent. of the above amount was for Wheat sent to England. During the same period last year our merchandise exports aggregated $907 000 against $1 141,900 same time in 1868 and $679 400 same time in 1867.

At this time last year there were 29 vessels on the way here from England, mostly of small capacity, the whole number registering only 15,500 tons. The list now on the way here from the same source comprise only 13 vessels of 12,000 tons. This falling off of one third in the anticipated tonnage supply from England is significant. Usually the vessels arriving here from England are sent back with wheat. During the harvest year ending June 30 1870 we cleared 174 ships and barks for England, all laden with wheat. As it takes about four months on an average to make the trip from Liverpool to San Francisco, unless the fleet be materially increased, we cannot expect over 40 vessels from that port during the ensuing year; whereas, during the year ending on the 1st instant, the marine arrivals at this port from Great Britain numbered 56, against 67 for the previous year. It will thus be seen that our tonnage supply from that source is steadily on the wane. In the event of a general European war a further curtailment of tonnage would be inevitable.

TRICK OF PARIS SHARPERS.—Not long ago a genteel looking fellow, who carried his right arm in a sling, and was followed by a servant, stepped into a shop. The shop keeper, supposing him to be a military pensioner, showed him such articles as he desired. When he came to settle the account, however, finding he had not sufficient money, he asked the shop keeper to write a note from his dictation to his wife, which he would send to his hotel by his servant. The shop keeper unsuspiciously wrote on a sheet bearing the name of the firm these words: "Send me immediately by the bearer two hundred francs. Yours, R—." The customer smilingly closed up the note with the expression, "Ah, then we are namesakes." The servant took the note and soon returned with the required sum. The purchaser paid for his goods, gave them to his servant to carry, and went away. Some hours afterwards the wife of the shop-keeper visited him, and after talking of various things suddenly asked him why he had sent for the two hundred francs. The man's horror may be imagined when he saw what a cheat had been played upon him.

A statement just prepared at the Internal Revenue office shows that at the present time there are [illegible] persons and firms engaged in tobacco and snuff manufacture. Of these eighty five are in New York. North Carolina has the greatest number, [illegible]. The number of persons and firms reported engaged in the manufacture of cigars in the United States is [illegible]. The number of cigar makers registered as being employed by the manufacturers is 45,808.

American Iron Industry

The vast extent to which the production of American iron has been stimulated by the protective policy that has prevailed during several years past is shown forcibly in a recent report by the Secretary of the American Iron and Steel Association. It appears that the total product of anthracite pig iron in the United States has grown from 519 211 tons in 1860 to 971 150 tons in 1869. The product of bituminous coal furnaces has increased with equal rapidity. It amounted to 553 841 tons in 1869, which was an increase of 63 per cent over the product of 1868, of 74 per cent over that of 1867, of 105 per cent over that of 1866. In 1854 the product in this class was 54,485 tons, since which the annual average increase has been 54½ per cent. The production of charcoal iron in 1869 was 392,150 tons, viz: 38,000 in the New England States; 134 000 in the Middle States; 206 500 in the Western States and 13 650 in the Southern States. In the Southern States a number of old charcoal furnaces that were out of blast when the war ended have recently been repaired and lighted. Three of these are in Alabama, which State is making a great effort to develop her mineral resources. The total product of pig iron of all kinds in the United States in 1869 was 1 916 641 tons, having been more than doubled in a period of four years. The production of railroad iron in 1869 reached 593,585 tons of 2,000 lbs each, against 189,818 tons in 1861. Of the product of rails for 1869, 9 050 tons were Bessemer steel. During 1869 we imported 345,000 tons, making, with the 593 586 tons manufactured here, a total consumption of 938,586 tons. Taking into consideration the growth of our railroad system, the requirements of the country for the coming five years will doubtless average over a million tons per annum. The product of rolling mills other than rails for 1869, was 642,490 tons, comprising 292,500 tons of bar and rod, 36,320 tons sheet, 68,000 tons plate, and 17,200 tons hoop iron, 146,490 tons spikes and nails, and 72,000 tons axles, etc. Of the same kind of manufactures we imported 429,795 tons, making a total consumption of rolled iron, other than rails, in 1869, of 767,015 tons. Notwithstanding the substantial progress which the American iron industry is making, we thus continue to draw heavy supplies from Great Britain; the shipments thence to the United States in 1860, of all kinds, being 596,554 tons. Of this quantity, 500,123 tons consisted of rails. Great Britain increased her exports of railroad iron to all parts last year, to 53,5 per cent., Russia being the next best customer after the United States.

A Barnacle Speaks.

If the tools and creatures whom Governor Grover has appointed to rule this city, in violation of the will of the people, could rightly appreciate their position, they would perceive that modest stillness and humility would much better become them than their attempts to thrust themselves upon public notice. If they were not wholly brazed with that shameless kind of partisanship which deems any outrage justifiable provided they and their party can gain by it, they would obtrude themselves as little as possible on an outraged public, and be content with possessing in obscurity the emoluments which the Legislature has voted for their benefit out of the pockets of the people of Portland.

But this ring of seedy and unscrupulous politicians who would not be trusted by the people of Portland in any capacity, but who are foisted as rulers upon them by that very Democratic Legislature which lately sat at Salem and by Governor Grover, have cheek enough to parade themselves as much as possible in their ignominious position before the people of this city. As citizens, these curbstone politicians never had any character to brag of; as the creatures of the Governor, appointed by him to positions with which the people would not entrust them, they are sunk in public estimation to such a depth of odium and contempt as the deepest soundings can hardly reach.

Feeling, however, that they need some defence and that the outrage which has placed them in authority demands an attempt at justification, A. B. Hallock, one of the chiefs of these barnacles, Hallock the rotund and rubicund, rushes with a printed statement into the public. He attempts by a sort of jugglery of figures, which he himself can't understand, to show that the "new system," the system under which he draws his three dollars per day as Police Commissioner, is a great saving to the city. Hallock's price is not great, he does come very cheap indeed. Only three dollars per day. That will almost keep him supplied with potables, at ten cents per potation. He volunteers the information that everybody connected with the police under the "new system" has a "good and reputable character," including of course Mr Hallock himself. Citizens now will certainly be satisfied. When A B H vouches for "moral character" everybody may rest assured that it is the genuine article! The testimony of the inmates of the city's bagnios could not be more conclusive!

But it appears that this "moral character" is placed at the service of the city at an astonishingly low rate. In fact it is almost as cheap as Chinese labor. Old Lapp don't care for fees, and Hallock don't care for jobs and pickings. Of course not. Citizens of Portland for full fifteen years have known that. That, in fact, is almost as well known as the "moral character" portion of the narrative. Who is it that insinuates that these barnacles are not perfectly trustworthy, that they are not entirely disinterested and actuated only by a single desire to minister to the wants and interests of the people, forgetful wholly of themselves? What else except "a general honest thought and common good to all" could have induced them to become the instruments of the Governor in taking away from the people of this city their right of self-government?

But this, unfortunately, is an ungenerous and unbelieving world, and not one in ten of those who know our Chief Police Commissioner best are disposed to accept any statement he makes (when he has any personal or partisan interest in making it) as reliable unless there is strong extraneous proof thereof. Much as we may lament that this is so it is out of our power to render it otherwise.

It is said by the Chief Commissioner that the fees allowed the former officers were much too large. If this was so wouldn't it have been easy enough to have reduced them without committing the gross outrage on popular rights which has been perpetrated? In order to reduce the fees in a few cases it was necessary, was it, to disfranchise the people of Portland? It is our opinion that the fees might properly enough have been cut down somewhat, and no doubt the expenses might, with great advantage be reduced. Now Mr Hallock for instance is a supernumerary. It is true he gets only three dollars per day; but this is much more than he is reasonably worth to the city. As the reduction of fees was the only object which Mr Hallock pretends was to be gained it will strike an ordinary mind that this could have been accomplished without vesting the supreme power to govern the city in the hands of his Excellency at the Capital. But to the great mind of Mr Hallock it appears differently. Why? Because he is a Police Commissioner under the "new system" at three dollars per day with power in his hands and chances for jobs thrown in.

Mr Hallock and his associate barnacles will not commend themselves and their "system" of centralized, irresponsible government to the people of this city by thrusting themselves before the public as its advocates. The less they agitate it the better it will be for the prospects of the party they are so anxious to serve while serving themselves.

The San Francisco Examiner tells that the Democrats of that city fired 100 guns "not so much in honor of the immediate results of the late elections, as in honor of the dawn destined soon to become high noon of the triumph of the Democratic party." Which reminds us of the words of the solemn poet, who saw men all around him

> Dropping buckets into empty wells
> And growing old in drawing nothing up.

THE TERRITORIES

The Boise Statesman of the 23d reports this: An important case was on trial yesterday in the District Court entitled Emma E. Cox against the Northwestern Stage Company. The facts on which the action is founded are alleged to be, that the plaintiff was a passenger on one of the Company's stages from Babington's to Snake river on the 20th of October last, that the stage was upset on the way, whereby plaintiff was thrown down and injured and claims damages in the sum of twenty thousand dollars. The whole day was consumed in the examination of the witnesses and the Court adjourned last evening to give opportunity to take the deposition of Miss Cox, who was unable to be brought into Court. The testimony in the case submitted yesterday, went to show that Miss Cox had suffered a fracture of the thigh bone, from which it was impossible for her to ever fully recover. The defendants in their answer plead a release from all right of action for damages on account of the injury. The case excites considerable interest, and the court room was full during the day. The defendants submit their evidence this morning.

From the Walla Walla Union: The transfer of real estate, both in town and county, have been more numerous within the last few weeks than ever before. The price has advanced very rapidly, and we know of investments having been made one year ago, that have returned a profit of three hundred per cent. It is safe to say that prices have advanced within the last twelve months at least fifty per cent. This increase in the value of property, is mainly on account of the fact that there seems to be a probability of railroad communication between this and the outside world.

A Walla Walla paper has this for the benefit of the local immigration society: We think it bad policy to pay several hundred dollars traveling expenses for an agent to go to New York to get a pamphlet printed for, perhaps, a hundred dollars less than it can be done here. To pay three dollars in order to save one, looks "penny wise and pound foolish." This seems to be the policy adopted by the Immigrant Aid Society. It will not be a very flattering advisement for our country when the agent represents that it is necessary to go to New York in order to get a little job of printing done.

WAR MISCELLANY

In the second regiment of the Prussian landwehr marched the fathers of 7,003 children.

The catacombs beneath Paris have been flooded, in consequence of an attempt made by the besieged to fill the moat on the southern side of the city with water.

To conciliate the religious and Legitimist sympathies of the soldiers of La Vendee, the French Government has permitted them to carry, as a battle flag the historical Bourbon lilies and the figure of the Virgin.

Some Bavarian papers urge the adoption of a banner for the projected confederation of all German States which will combine both the North German and Bavarian colors. Such a combination would be "black, white, and blue."

The King of Prussia has ordered that no more French officers, when taken prisoners by the Germans, shall be paroled, as many of those who have given their parole previously have violated it at the request of the Tours Government.

Dogs are to be utilized in the French postal service between Paris and the provinces. They are to be taken out of Paris in balloons. They will have letters strung around their necks, and then be let loose to find their way back to Paris.

A correspondent who passed through France from Havre to the Belgian frontier states that though he saw en route many soldiers and plenty of material for soldiers, the country outside of Paris has no confidence in a single French General.

It is stated that a brisk trade in Chassepot guns is going on between Belgium and France. Many of the peasants of the former country picked up the rifles from the battle field of Sedan, and now smuggle them to their former owners at fair prices.

Numerous little journals have appeared in Paris printed in diamond type, about the size of half a sheet of note paper. They publish "balloon editions" for readers outside of the city. Others are lithographed in characters so small and close as to require a microscope to read them.

There are more Jews in Alsace and Lorraine than in all the rest of France. Alsace contains a Jewish population of 46,300 and Lorraine, of 8,800, together 55 100 Jews, while the rest of France contains but 12 400 of them. The city of Metz has a Jewish population of 2 800 souls.

In a general order to his soldiers, announcing the surrender of Metz, Marshal Bazaine stated that all that was loyally possible to be done in order to avoid that end had been attempted and could not succeed. He declared that any attempt to break through the lines of the enemy would have resulted in disaster.

In Bordeaux, when the announcement was made at the theater that "the infamous traitor Bazaine had surrendered Metz, with an army of 126 000 men," a most extraordinary scene ensued. The audience of 3,000 people present absolutely roared with rage. Men threw up their hands and shouted and women tore off their bonnets and shrieked in very passion while a great cry of "Death to Bazaine" arose.

The German infantry have recently, been armed with a new weapon designed for mountainous and guerrilla warfare, which supersedes the light field artillery. It is a small portable field piece, weighing about thirty pounds, and was tested in the war of 1866. It can be carried by two men and ten shots a minute can be fired with it. Its range is at least 2 000 paces. Thousands have been distributed to the army.

The Grand Duke of Mecklenburg, Governor of the German occupied French provinces other than those of Alsace and Lorraine, has issued an order that "all persons under my command and troops who may march through Champagne are directed not to disturb the vintage in any way. Wagons laden with wine or empty barrels in the whole territory of Champagne may neither be seized or delayed. Every unauthorized entry into the vineyard and every damage therein committed will be punished according to military law."

Attempts are proposed to introduce sponge growing into the industries of the harbors on the eastern coast of our continent. It seems that one species of the sponge has recently been found thriving in Portland, Maine harbor, and it is inferred that it would live in all places on our eastern coast south of that place.

War in the Woman Suffrage Camp

MRS. HENRY B. STANTON—FREE DIVORCE AND FREE LOVE—REFRESHING OPINIONS OF EACH OTHER.

The New York Tribune, of November 12th has the following, which is exceedingly good reading:

Now there is a war in the Woman Suffrage camp. For a time after the enforced retirement of Miss Susan B. Anthony and Mrs Henry B. Stanton from their assumed leadership of the New York Suffrage party and the change in tone and conduct in The Revolution there was a hollow truce between that vivacious organ and the decorous Woman's Journal of Boston whereof Lucy Stone, T. W. Higginson and Mrs Livermore are the prophets. But it was evident from the beginning that the peace could be only a truce. Mrs. Henry B. Stanton's recent address in New York in favor of Free Divorce appears to have been the signal for the renewal of the conflict, although it may well be suspected from some aspects of the struggle that the amiable habit cherished by this lady and some others of saying piquant things about their associates has led to heart burnings. The first open outbreak appears in the form of a trenchant editorial on Marriage and Divorce in the Woman's Journal, of November 5th, from which we extract as follows:

(A Woman's Suffrage meeting was held in New York some two weeks since, of which we know nothing save what is reported in the daily papers. However these reports may differ in other respects they agree painfully in reference to the speech of Mrs. H. B. Stanton on that occasion. * * * Mrs Stanton's argument was in favor of more liberal marriage and divorce laws, which she would make so free and easy, and if she has been correctly reported as completely to destroy the purity and stability of marriage, and to render divorce contingent on whim, caprice, passion or convenience. * * * If Mrs. Stanton's theory were carried out to its logical results there would be no such thing as marriage or divorce. Men would take wives and women husbands as they take house-servants or rent houses, or enter business partnerships—to change according to convenience, dissatisfaction, opportunities to better themselves or from whim or caprice. There would be no necessity for the "uniform national law" which Mrs Stanton recommends. Legitimately carried out, these theories abrogate marriage, and we have then the hideous thing known as "free love." Be not deceived—free love means free lust.)

This was the first blood for the Woman's Journal. The Revolution of yesterday next takes its innings. It has a sarcastic communication accusing Mrs Julia Ward Howe of heterodox speeches, and the Woman's Journal of an editorial pronunciamento in favor of several causes of divorce, which amount practically to a confession in favor of the doctrine of free love. Next it denies the Woman's Journal's denial of the charge that the following extraordinary proposition had appeared in the Woman's Advocate, an organ of woman suffrage in the West, and proves that it did appear in a newspaper which has since been consolidated with the very Woman's Journal which now makes the denial:

"A writer in the Woman's Advocate, the organ of woman suffrage in the West, lays down a platform for the party with this, among other declarations: 'Let the marriage contract be limited to from one to three years, at the option of the contracting parties.'"

This seems pretty clearly to prove a moderate amount of free love in at least one of the original elements that constitute the present woman's organ.

But next and most flavorous of all, is Mrs Henry B. Stanton's letter for publication, wherein she treats of Col. Thomas Wentworth Higginson as a draper authority on dress, manners and culinary utensils, explains the slavery under which his wife suffers and which he is incapable of comprehending, and elucidates the character of Beecher. A rash observer might be tempted to the theory that the venerable lady was in ill humor when she wrote these piquant phrases, but nothing could be more unjust. She is never known to lose her equable calm, or be swayed from the even poise of her lady like fairness, freedom from personality and devotion solely to great principles.

Mr Higginson boasts that under his leadership the ranks have been cleared of all objectionable persons and "side issues," and the reform clearly based on one idea. Now with all due reverence to the reverend gentleman as a neat and dapper reformer and rhetorician, as an ex-cathedra authority for dress, manners and culinary utensils I doubt whether the earnest, suffering womanhood of this nation will accept him as their mouthpiece to measure the depths of their degradation, or to decide among their many sorrows and oppressions which in its order should invariably come first. Had this curt, calm complacent gentleman ever belonged to an outraged ostracised class he might sometimes have been betrayed into such overflowings of impatience and indignation as are quite beyond his ideas of dignity and propriety to-day.

It is remarkable, says Dean Swift, "with what patience and fortitude some men can bear other folks sufferings." It is just as possible for men to understand the slavery of the women in their own households as it was for slaveholders to understand that of the African race on their plantations, and just as impossible for one as the other to see that the first step to education, elevation and enfranchisement is personal freedom.

An Incentive to Immigration,

The editor of a German newspaper in Chicago has seen some vegetables that grew in Washington Territory, and thus expresses his wonder:

The wonderful growth of vegetables, fruits etc. in Washington Territory has seemed like a myth to us, but, for the last few days the adage that "seeing is believing" has been personally made known to us. Governor Salomon has sent us, in three large boxes samples of the vegetables and fruits that grow in Washington Territory. They are better promoters of emigration than all emigrant agents put together. One is reminded of Joshua when he returned from the land of Canaan and related to the children of Israel the wonderful story of the immense size to which the grapes grew.

Two giant squashes, respectively weighing 192 and 165 pounds, are to be seen in the show window of the Illinois Staats Zeitung on Madison street; also one great red beet weighing 12 pounds and measuring fourteen inches in circumference. Lying by it are a giant onion and potato, the latter ten times as large as our common potato and in itself sufficient to appease the appetite of a small family. Apples and pears grow proportionately large. A pear lies before us that measures 7 inches in length and is 16 inches in circumference.

Governor Salomon can do nothing better to promote the prosperity of the Pacific coast and give an incentive to emigration than to send from time to time samples of the fruits and vegetables that grow on the soil of Washington Territory. That the Governor comprehends this fully we can see by the address now lying before us which he delivered before the Clarke county (W. T.) Agricultural and Mechanical Society September 29th 1870.

ESTATE OF A CHICAGO MILLIONAIRE.—The Chicago Republican of November 16th has the following:

The will of the late F. C. Sherman was proved yesterday in the County Court and letters testamentary granted to his two sons Frank T. Sherman and George C. Sherman on their bond of $2 000 000. The homestead and furniture are bequeathed to Mr. Sherman's widow, and the rest of the property including $18 000 worth of personal property, all excepting the Sherman House, is left to the children in equal portions. The Sherman House is given in trust to J. L. Marsh who is charged with the management of that part of the estate, and is required to pay out of the rental $6 000 to the widow, and $3,000 to each of the children, and after all indebtedness on the house is cleared up to divide the entire amount of the rental between the widow and the children, the widow having one-third and the children taking the other two-thirds in equal portions. On the death of Mrs. Sherman, the Sherman House property is to be conveyed to the heirs of the testator's children in equal portions.

Have the best supply ever brought to town.
They have all sorts of coats and pants that will match,
That will last a whole year and not need a patch;
There are socks, vests and shirts and a thousand things more
Which they offer you cheaper than ever before.
You all need the clothes and they need the tin,
Then get a new suit and let Winter go on.

THURSDAY MORNING DECEMBER 1 1870

"FAGIN" AMONG US.—For a year or two there has been a startling increase of juvenile [illegible] and at [illegible] here have been [illegible] on a line of depredation committed by these embryo rascals. A [illegible] attempts [illegible] have [illegible] in which no arrests were [illegible] complaints laid. In one instance, a [illegible] more than ten years old was [illegible] attempt [illegible] articles displayed on the side [illegible] the doors of stores occur almost every day. Sometimes the article stolen is only a [illegible] or a bit of iron or lead pipe or a handkerchief. It has often been a matter of [illegible] that the young rascals could want with [illegible] what they could do with them [illegible] for the risk of detection and punishment. In a recent case where two or three boys [illegible] from eight to twelve years were detected [illegible] stealing lead pipe from a warehouse, one of [illegible] being caught was closely questioned as to the doings of his associates and what they did with their stolen property. He said there was a place in the city where they sold it and he gave the name of the dealer. We cannot say whether this man has ever been suspected of buying stolen property but all the circumstances go to show that he knows well enough the character of the [illegible] with whom he deals and what kind of property he buys from them. In view of this and the fact that he encourages them in such wickedness, he is morally more guilty than the [illegible] thieves and should be held responsible [illegible] an outraged community. The officers of the [illegible] will probably have little difficulty in ascertaining whether the boy's story be true, if they care to know.

WHOLESALE SWINDLING.—A case was upon examination yesterday before Justice Moreland, in which two men named Cohen and Davis, were charged with gross fraud and cheating in the weighing of produce. A lot of sacked potatoes was brought up a few days since by the steamer [illegible] and sold to these parties who received and weighed them on the wharf. The returns astonished the parties who sold them and they came up to the city to institute inquiries. The buyers were arrested and upon the examination it appeared that in the weighing process a weight was used which was represented to be a 200 pound weight, when in reality it was a 300 pound weight. The gunnies were weighed three at a time, and thus at every time a batch was put on the scales, the sellers lost and the buyers gained one hundred pounds. The difference in value of the whole lot between the real and the false weights, was not far from one hundred dollars. Upon the examination, Cohen was not proved to have been in complicity with the fraudulent trick, and the Justice discharged him, but Davis who did the weighing was held to answer. We are informed that lately there have been other cases in the city where producers have been swindled in a similar way, and that threats of prosecution were effectually used to make the dishonest traders "equitably adjust."

OREGON AND CALIFORNIA STAGE COMPANY.—To-day the mail contract and stock of the Oregon and California Stage Company changes hands. The new contractors and proprietors are Messrs. Bradley Barlow, of Vermont, Owen Fuller, of Indiana, and J. W. Parker of Kansas. The officers of the new company have been chosen as follows: Superintendent, Frank Gluggage, Esq., Division Agents, J. J. Comstock, Jerry Martin, and W. L. Smith, Portland Agent, B. G. Whitehouse. Thus comes upon us, like an avalanche, another horde of grinding monopolists, to forage upon the grain stacks of the Wallamet, Umpqua, and Rogue River farmers, compelling the producer hereafter from 20 to 25 cents per bushel more for oats, and $20 to $25 per ton more for hay, than when there were no stage coaches in the country. We congratulate the new contractors and the public on the fact that the officers of the present organization are chiefly from among those who have enabled the old company to give such universal satisfaction in the past. This speaks favorably for the future management. It is proposed in the spring to make time from railroad to railroad in [illegible] days, and through time, between Portland and San Francisco will be reduced to four days—just the average of steamer time.

NORTHERN PACIFIC RAILROAD.—We learn that Mr. Rice, who comes out here for the Northern Pacific Railroad Company has determined to put a force of workmen, as soon as practicable on that part of the route between the Columbia river and Olympia. Work will be begun at Cowlitz and the section between that point and the [illegible] will be the first built at the Pacific end. It is the intention of the Company to push the construction as rapidly as possible. At first the terminus will be at Cowlitz river, and probably Olympia, but in time the road will be continued further down the Sound.

NEW INCORPORATION.—A. G. Cunningham, F. T. Dodge and Geo. W. Weidler, filed articles of incorporation in the Clerk's office yesterday, for the Portland Warehouse and Dock Company. Capital stock $400 000, in shares of $100 each; principal office in Portland, object of the incorporation to carry on the business of storage and wharfage in Portland and East Portland.

NEW POSTOFFICES.—The following new postoffices have recently been established: Clackamas at Marshfield railroad station, Gervais, office formerly at Belpasset, Glencoe, Wapiton and Greenfield in Washington county, Turners and Marion, in Marion county, Columbia, on the Wallamet Slough, and White Salmon, on the Columbia river.

SWAN ISLAND MARKET.—By their advertisement it will be seen that the well known firm of J. B. Haly & Co., butchers, have removed from the Multnomah Market to the opposite corner, and christened their new market "Swan Island Market." They are in daily receipt of fresh beef, pork, and mutton, from the Island.

CHANGE IN HOTEL MANAGEMENT.—Mr. Jacobs, formerly manager of the St. George Hotel in Victoria assumes the management, this morning of the St. Charles Hotel in this city, Mr. Keith retiring. Mr. Jacobs has the reputation of being able to "keep a hotel," and keep it, too, in tip top style.

DEATH AT SEA.—We learn that during the passage up of the steamship California a lady passenger, daughter of Mr. J. Blachby, aged about nineteen years, died of consumption. This is the fourth recent death on board the California.

FREIGHT FROM SAN FRANCISCO.—The steamship California brought up four hundred and twenty tons of merchandise—all she could stow—and as has happened several times lately, she had to refuse freight before leaving port.

LOCAL BREVITIES

Oro Fino Theater will be closed on Friday evening for the purpose of rehearsing the drama of Captain Kyd, which will be produced on Saturday evening.

The Police Court was engaged yesterday upon the trial of a man charged with an assault by which miscarriage was induced.

A new claimant of the Caruthers' estate is reported. This time the man is a woman.

Specimens of the lately discovered Santiam coal have been exhibited in this city. The coal is pronounced a good article.

The exceedingly pleasant weather yesterday afternoon brought out a large crowd to the Plaza concert.

The steamship California will sail for San Francisco at 4 P. M. Friday, December 2.

The comedy of Victorine will be played again to-night at the Oro Fino Theater.

The tender of the locomotive Portland was accidentally backed off the turn table at East Portland yesterday. Not much damage however was done.

THE COURTS

WEDNESDAY, November 30 1870.

U. S. DISTRICT COURT—DEADY, JUDGE.—The trial of the case of the United States vs the schooner [illegible] occupied the time of the court through the entire day.

CIRCUIT COURT—[illegible], JUDGE.—State of Oregon vs Annie M[illegible], selling liquor in quantities less than a quart without license; defendant by attorney plead guilty, and was fined $50 and costs. Gibbs for the State; Mitchell & Dolph for defendant.

Wm. Currier, a juror, excused until Monday, December 5.

James Partlow and [illegible] Bowser excused for the term.

State of Oregon vs [illegible] Russell. $15 allowed J. J. Henderson and [illegible] Smith for defending the defendant.

Chas. Jall, administrator, vs Multnomah county; action for damages; case argued. Kelly & Bond for plaintiff; Gibbs for the county.

CITY.

About a year or two been a startling increase of juvenile in this city and lately there have been frequent complaints on all sides of depreda committed by these embryo rascals A of cases of daring thieving or attempts have within a month been brought to notice—cases in which no arrests were complaints laid In one instance a boy scarcely more than ten years old was in an attempt to open the till of a saloon thieving of articles displayed on the side near the doors of stores occur almost But often the article stolen is only a bit of iron or lead pipe or a handker It has often been a matter of what the young rascals could want with what they could do with them risk, or what they could do with them for the risk of detection and punish In a recent case where two or three boys from eight to twelve years were detected lead pipe from a warehouse one of was closely questioned as to his associates and what they did stolen property He said there was a city where they sold it and he gave the locality We cannot say whether ever been suspected of buying stolen all the circumstances go to show well enough the character of the whom he deals and what kind of prop boys from them In view of this and the fact that he encourages them in such wick he is morally more guilty than the thieves and should be held responsible outraged community The officers of the probably have little difficulty in ascer whether the boy's story be true if they

SWINDLING —A case was upon yesterday, before Justice Moreland two men named Cohen and Davis were with gross fraud and cheating in the of produce A lot of sacked potatoes up a few days since by the steamer sold to these parties who received them on the wharf The returns the parties who sold them and they city to institute inquiries The and upon the examination that in the weighing process a weight which was represented to be a when in reality it was a 500 weight. The gunnies were weighed three and thus at every time a batch was put the sellers lost and the buyers hundred pounds The difference in whole lot between the real and the not far from one hundred dol the examination Cohen was not in complicity with the fraud the Justice discharged him but the weighing was held to answer that lately there have been other where producers have been swin similar way, and that threats of prose occasionally used to make the dishonest adjust "

CALIFORNIA STAGE COMPANY —To contract and stock of the Oregon Stage Company changes hands tractors and proprietors are Messrs of Vermont Owen Fuller, of J. W Parker of Kansas The offi new company have been chosen as Superintendent, Frank Cloggage, Esq , J J Comstock, Jerry Martin, Portland Agent, B G White comes upon us, like an avalanche, of grinding monopolists, to forage stacks of the Wallamet, Umpqua, River farmers, compelling the producer to 25 cents per bushel more for to $25 per ton more for hay, than no stage coaches in the country the new contractors and the pub that the officers of the present or from among those who have old company to give such universal in the past. This speaks favorably for ament. It is proposed in the time from railroad to railroad in through time, between Portland will be reduced to four days— of steamer time

PACIFIC RAILROAD —We learn that who comes out here for the Northern Company has determined to put as soon as practicable on that the Columbia river and will be begun at Cowlitz and that point and the Sound, at the Pacific end. THE GERMAN PATRIOTIC RELIEF ASSOCIATION

The following is a liberal translation of the res olutions adopted by the German Patriotic Relief Association at its meeting at Turn Verein Hall Tuesday evening

Resolved That we the Germans of Portland are filled with just pride by the heroic conduct of the German army, during the present hard strug gle and by the achievement through them of such glorious victories

Resolved That we are exceedingly joyful in witnessing the sentiment of unity and harmony which pervades the hearts of all true Germans at home as well as abroad.

Resolved That we regarding the distress of so many thousands of our dear brethren in the fatherland, consider it our duty not only to insist on all those who are present at this meeting to contribute by subscription a sum of not less than 25 cents per week from date until peace shall be restored in order to alleviate, partly at least the sufferings of our beloved countrymen but also to invite those of our German brethren not present at this meeting to follow our example and to assist us liberally

A FRIENDLY CALL AND WHAT WAS SAID —It is human nature to tell our friends of our ailments We all do it expecting sympathy Sympathy is a great comfort to invalids When we have recovered too we are fond of talking of the medicines that relieved us This is a good trait in our humanity It shows that we are grateful for benefits received

The other day Mrs. E Sutcliff the well known teacher of crayon painting whose atelier is in Court street, Brooklyn, was visited by a lady pupil who had been absent from her class nearly a month What has been the matter? said Mrs. Sutcliff, Have you been sick? Very was the reply 'What complaint? Dyspepsia I thought I should have died.' Ah and what did the doctors do for you, my dear said Mrs. S Nothing, responded the young lady 'A gentleman friend she continued with a tell tale blush induced me to try PLANTATION BITTERS and you see the result, I am perfectly well This conversation occurred in Mrs Sutcliff's studio, and it is here given as she relates it word for word

The Krupp Cannon

[illegible] ESTABLISHMENT AT ESSEN

A late Leip[illegible] journal th[illegible] contains a description of the celebrated cannon manufactory of Krupp which is at present of considerable interest

At the time England enforced the continental system the impossibility of procuring good cast steel became so serious in its consequences that Napoleon I offer[illegible] a reward of 1 000 000 f[illegible]s for the manufacture of th[illegible] article if not inferior to the product of Great Britain Frederick Krupp a wealthy and enterprising German immediately devoted his time and pecuniary means to experiments and although he finally succeeded in solving the technical problem he was not destined to reap the reward of his life long task for Napoleon was dead Krupp died in 1827 in reduced circumstances bequeathing to his children the invention to which he had devoted his life His eldest son Alfred only fifteen years old at once set to work in the small forge built by his father, and assisted at first by only two trustworthy workmen His efforts were successful and his establishment developed from year to year At present he directs one of the most extensive industrial enterprises of the day

On approaching the establishment to which but few persons not connected with it ever gain admission one is almost stunned by the deafening noise and din of hammers and machinery which becomes almost insupportable whenever the colossal hammer Fritz of 1 000 hundred weight is at work The entrance to the place is through a wide gate in the massive building of the doorkeeper Here everybody working in the forge shows a pasteboard card on entering, which is returned to him on leaving in the evening Visitors are conducted to the central office where they have to apply for permission to see the various works if properly recommended this may be obtained excepting always the buildings in which the manufacture of cast steel is going on the admittance to which is strictly prohibited to any one not connected with them When the idea of constructing the enormous hammer Fritz was first conceived in 1857 it became known to machinists not connected with the establishment and was generally ridiculed The construction of such a tremendous engine was held to be an impossibility, and even if completed it was argued that it would be beyond all human skill to bring it into motion finally it was said the hammer would destroy itself and every thing around it when set to work Krupp however went to work without delay although he did not undervalue the enormous difficulties to be encountered and in time succeeded The hammer although only one piece consists of two substances. The lower part of the [illegible] with smelted cast steel, upon which, before it became cold, cast iron was poured the lower part of which mixed homog[illegible] with the cast steel, thus forming [illegible] When a block of steel of 74 [illegible] is sufficiently heated to be r[illegible] for the hammer, the immense mass of m[illegible] removed from the furnace on a s[illegible] wagon on rails almost imperceptibly [illegible] heavy chains connected with the st[illegible] encircle it, and in a few seconds the [illegible] lifted and deposited on the anvil The [illegible] from this mass of metal is such that one can not stand within 25 yards the workmen however protect themselves and are enabled to stand nearer Now the work of the Cyclop commences and as he descends with his tremendous weight on the mass of metal below a myriad of sparks spread in all directions, The construction of this hammer has cost 720 000 thalers, although every part of it was manufactured within the forge it is worked almost uninterruptedly day and night that it may the better earn the interest on the capital invested in it

This establishment is not devoted to warlike material solely All sorts of railroad material of the heavier kind is produced in enormous quantities A quantity of axletrees were before the war sold to a French railroad company and after traveling a distance of 169,400 English miles not one of them was found to be in the least damaged. Even England, the country of cast steel, sends orders for them. In the year 186[illegible] the export to England the colonies and to the United States amounted to 554 axletrees and 11 306 wheel [illegible].

The construction of ironclads in England the United States and France, and the other maritime countries necessarily led to the demand for more powerful weapons of attack the most experienced artillerist and manufacturers of [illegible] devised means and plans for the construction of cannon Rifled cannon, superseding the old ones of smooth bore, were first brought into extensive use during the civil war in the United States, while the first breech loaders were manufactured by Krupp, Whitworth and Armstrong Cast steel was at first used in the construction of light field pieces only, until it was found to be fit for the manufacture of guns of the heaviest caliber, the danger of their explosion being obviated by giving greater strength of metal to the breech end of the cannon and by encircling the same with several bands of cast steel of different degrees of strength In one of the buildings is seen the 1,000 pound [illegible] which created such a sensation at the exhibition in Paris in 1867 It was thought the Prussian Government would order it to be shipped to the coast of either the German or the Baltic Sea to be used for coast defense but these anticipations have not been realized, and as the French fleet has already withdrawn from those waters perhaps the gun may be brought into use during the siege of Paris The gun was intended for coast defense and it was calculated that its projectiles would pierce the heaviest iron clad in existence It has one great advantage over the heavy columbiads of Rodman in the greater facility of pointing it in any direction owing to the ease which it moves on the gun carriage. The cannon proper one of the finest pieces of steel which could possibly be made weighed 85,000 pounds before it was bored after that process only forty thousand showing the enormous loss in material of 45 000 pounds The cast steel bands which encircle the cannon weigh 60 000 pounds the inner side has 40 spiral groves which represent a length of 1,014 inches, the massive or solid projectile weighs 1 100 pounds while the cast steel grenade does not exceed 1 000 pounds The charge of powder ranges from 100 to 120 pounds, for each shot, the cost of the gun gun carriage, and the other appurtenances amounts to 145,000 thalers The other small [illegible] exhibited by Krupp in 1867 have attracted a decidedly greater attention than the one above described, and he has obtained a prize medal for every one of the designs invented by him The number of cannons of all descriptions manufactured by Krupp reaches 3 500 of an aggregate value of 7 000 000 thalers He has now on hand orders for 2 200 guns for several European and other governments, representing a value of over 4,000,000 thalers Of these 55 per cent are breech-loaders, varying in caliber from 4 to 300 pounds while a few of them will have a caliber of 600 and even 1 000 pounds The Prussian Government has always made the most extensive purchase of Krupp's guns and the superiority of their artillery is the best proof that the confidence placed in his cast steel breech loaders has not been misplaced.

Dr Gibbon's Dispensary

623 KEARNEY STREET NEAR COMMERCIAL San Francisco Established in 1854 for the treatment of Sexual and Seminal Diseases such as Gonorrhoea Gleet Stricture Syphilis in all its forms, Seminal Weakness Impotency etc Skin Diseases (of years standing and Ulcerated Legs successfully treated

DR GIBBON has the pleasure of announcing [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] Hospitals [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] Dispensary [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] where his [illegible] [illegible]

Dr [illegible] spared neither time nor [illegible] [illegible] new remedies and has returned with increased facilities for the alleviation of human suffering

Horrible Diseases

How many thousands of persons both male and female are there who are suffering out a miserable existence from the effects of secret indulgences or from virus absorbed into the system! Look at their pallid emaciated and disfigured faces and their broken-down constitutions disqualifying them for the happiness of marriage or the enjoyment of life In this horrid situation thousands suffer until death loses the scene Let parents, guardians friends attend to those who are suffering with any of these horrible life-destroying maladies—see that they are cared for and cured before it be too late Send them immediately to Doctor Gibbon a physician who has made private diseases his especial study for years and who is certain to cure the most inveterate cases without mercury or any injurious drugs It is important to those who are afflicted, or to those who are interested in the welfare of their friends to be careful of the many pretended doctors who infest all cities publishing their skill in curing all diseases in a few days imposing upon the public by using the names of eminent physicians from Europe and other places Be therefore careful and make strict inquiry or you may fall into the hands of those charlatans.

Seminal Weakness

Seminal Emissions the consequence of self-abuse This solitary vice or depraved sexual indulgence is practised by the youth of both sexes to an almost unlimited extent, producing with unerring certainty the following train of morbid symptoms unless combatted by scientific medical measures viz Sallow countenance dark spots under the eyes pain in the head ringing in the ears noise like the rustling of leaves and rattling of chariots uneasiness about the loins weakness of the limbs confused vision blunted intellect loss of confidence diffidence in approaching strangers a dislike to form new acquaintances, disposition to shun society loss of memory hectic flushes pimples and various eruptions about the face, furred tongue fetid breath coughs, consumption night sweats monomania and frequent insanity If relief be not obtained should apply immediately either in person or by letter and have a cure effected by his new and scientific mode of treating this disease which never fails of effecting a quick and radical cure Dr G will give One Hundred Dollars to any person who will prove satisfactorily to him that he was cured of this complaint by either of the San Francisco quacks

MARRIED MEN,

Or those who contemplate marriage who are suffering under any of these fearful maladies should not forget the sacred responsibility resting upon them nor delay to obtain immediate relief

DOCTOR GIBBON is responsible, and will give to each patient a written instrument binding himself to effect a radical and permanent cure or make no charge

CURED AT HOME.

Persons at a distance may be CURED AT HOME by addressing a letter to Dr Gibbon stating case symptoms length of time the disease has continued and have medicines promptly forwarded free from damage and curiosity to any part of the country with full and plain directions for use for Ten Dollars, sent in registered letter or through Wells, Fargo & Co.

THE RIVERSIDE

HOMESTEAD ASSOCIATION!

OF

EAST PORTLAND, OREGON,

IS NOW PREPARED TO RECEIVE [illegible] to their Stock

Application for ONE HUNDRED SHARES [illegible] before the books were opened, and a large [illegible] Shares have been taken

The following extracts from the [illegible] will convey a good idea of the plan [illegible] the Association the location of the land, and etc.

RIVERSIDE HOMESTEAD ASSOCIATION.

This association of whose organization [illegible] an account a few days since is now ready to dispose of shares As it is with one exception, (the Portland Homestead Association,) the pioneer organization of that kind in this city, it may be well enough to state what are its [illegible] the manner in which it is proposed to [illegible] operations The purposes of these [illegible] Associations are not at all speculative in the ordinary sense of the word. They [illegible] for the profits of their investment upon [illegible] advance in the value of their lands, consequent upon the co-operation of many individuals —shareholders—and the advance in value of all surrounding lands by reason of the [illegible] population and demand for room [illegible] still near, the city The Riverside [illegible] Association has a fraction over one [illegible] twenty acres of land situated just south of Brooklyn on the east side of the river, the [illegible] east boundary line being about [illegible] the ferry landing at East Portland, [illegible] in one strip along the Wallamet river half a mile in length and another strip along the Oregon and California railroad, half a mile in length the strips being connected near the [illegible] rows of blocks (with a street between them) the whole forming a figure not unlike the letter H. It is divided into 74 blocks, [illegible] streets running at right angles and [illegible] al lots, along the river front. The [illegible] number 600, worth $60 per share. [illegible] a share thus represents nearly a lot [illegible] vided interest in the 60 front [illegible] [illegible] tional shares are to be sold off [illegible] for the benefit of the Association, [illegible] coming in for the proceeds in proportion to the number of shares held When [illegible] taken and the [illegible] mine to do it, the choice [illegible] will be put up at [illegible] bidder the proceeds of such [illegible] the original price of shares [illegible] equally among the whole [illegible] Thus, if a person wants [illegible] and is willing to pay $100 [illegible] or less as the case may be [illegible] the lot or block as his [illegible] premium being divided [illegible] of shareholders It will be seen [illegible] everything is co-operative, and [illegible] tual No man can make a [illegible] out also making a dollar for [illegible] shareholder There is no [illegible] the property by some [illegible] far below the first [illegible] liable to happen in the case [illegible] tract of land must be [illegible] but considering the steady and [illegible] vance on real estate in this [illegible] hood and at East Portland [illegible] last year or two, it [illegible] values to go back

In the Riverside Association all [illegible] tions seem to have been [illegible] monopolies of shares No [illegible] buy more than [illegible] three blocks, or [illegible] termining the operations of [illegible] restricted in the [illegible] shares may pay down $6[illegible] exempt them from all [illegible] pay $15 quarterly with an [illegible] share, payable with the [illegible] liable in this latter case to another [illegible] ther) assessment of $3 per share Upon the payment of the shares in full, within [illegible] as above the holder is entitled to [illegible] and his proportion of all the profits [illegible] all sources. No officer of the [illegible] any pay for services except the [illegible] gets $25 per month, so it will [illegible] expenses must be light.

That part of the tract lying along the river is a high plateau, nearly level, about [illegible] above the water There is no part of the front row of blocks but commanding [illegible] Portland and the river for miles up and down stream That part of the tract lying along the railroad is every foot of it, of the [illegible] soil and adapted to gardening purposes [illegible] tiful little stream of pure water runs through almost the entire length of this side of the tract, affording the means of irrigation, and power sufficient to supply pure water to every part of the whole tract There is not a waste lot or [illegible] lot in the entire tract Under all these advantages it would seem impossible that there should be any chance of loss to shareholders. Within a year each shareholder if he chooses, may get a perfect title to as many lots as his shares may represent or he may continue his interest undivided with the Association while the organization may exist —Oregonian.

THE RIVERSIDE HOMESTEAD [illegible]

We have been led to make these [illegible] As from the fact that the subject of making [illegible] on the outskirts of this city and East Portland, is being [illegible] discussed here among all [illegible] [illegible] has already

Riverside just south of East Portland [illegible] been established The site selected is a tract of land lying a little over a mile south of the ferry landing [illegible] shaped like the letter H one side of which, a half mile in length borders on the river

From this portion of the [illegible] which is elevated but a trifle above the other prong of the H, but is all forty or fifty feet above the river, can be had an extensive view of Portland, East Portland, the [illegible] and the Willamette river for several miles. The land is very [illegible] and [illegible] covered with light fir timber [illegible] tract of land just wide enough for two rows of blocks with a [illegible] one between them, [illegible] the west prong of the H (which has already been described) with the [illegible] The [illegible] tract of land is in a [illegible] state of cultivation [illegible] which is now under a high state of cultivation [illegible] whole length runs a front brook, the water of which is [illegible] as crystal. With a hydraulic ram the Ass[illegible] [illegible] opposes to have water [illegible] through [illegible] every portion of the homestead. [illegible]
